Battle of Lexington and Concord

What Is Happening

The colonists are angry the British have been putting taxes on their tea and their stamps. The colonists look like they have had enough. They are going to try and fight over their taxes, their freedoms and their rights. Nobody is safe the red coats are ready to fight they have their gear ready and they seem positive they will beat the colonists.

Who is helping

Everyone is helping out. But the people that are helping out a lot at the moment are Paul Revere, and the woman. Yesterday while the war was beginning Paul Revere came riding on his horse and told us that they red coats were coming he told us that we were going to have to start battling NOW. Then women are helping a lot because they were cooking food and they were preparing everything for the battle.

Ways you can help.

At this moment there are many ways you can help right now you can help feed and heal the soldiers. You can donate any weapons or clothes you have to the other colonists at battle so that they can be safe.

Our Leader: George Washington

What Is George Washington is doing

As we battle through this hard and long War, we have our chief/leader George Washington leading us through this. He is keeping everyone in track and making sure we all know what we need to do to beat the red coats

Why is George Washington leading us

I got the chance to talk to our leader George Washington and ask him why he wants to make a change. George said " I am tired of the british soldiers putting so many taxes on me and the other colonist I want a change

Thank you George

George is helping us colonist stay strong through this rough battle he is leading us in the right directions like a good leader should
